KATBLU All about what you love

Kat Gottlieb is an artist, author, and avid entrepreneur. She earned a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree and began her career in marketing communications. She flourished as a freelance graphic designer and small business consultant, developing a passion for the psyche and soul of entrepreneurship.

In 2008, she founded award-winning KatBlu Art & Design Studio specializing in exquisite laser cut design (the business was acquired in 2013). Then, she was a founding member of several highly successful businesses in the home improvement sector.

Now, she is licensed with national brands, a published author of her own books as well as three Chicken Soup For The Soul titles, and an illustrator for Hay House, Inc. She has been the featured artist in fine art exhibitions.

As a mentor and speaker, Gottlieb presents insightful, engaging, and helpful wisdom on topics of goal achievement, manifestation, and the psychology of creativity and entrepreneurship. She is an active philanthropist and childhood mental health advocate.
